

Knowledge is power

MLex US provides you with the intelligence, commentary and analysis that offers clarity and insight in the constantly evolving U.S. regulatory environment. With a unique focus on antitrust law, MLex US also covers a broader range of issues that are of concern to policy makers, lawyers and investors to better understand how competition law can directly affect them and their clients.

MLex US delivers comprehensive and up-to-the-minute coverage of latest regulatory developments in U.S. premerger antitrust enforcement, anti-cartel investigations and enforcement, private firm antitrust lawsuits as well as federal legislation affecting the full range of antitrust law.

Actionable intelligence to keep you ahead of the curve.

MLex US places a full research team at your disposal. Our accredited investigative journalists sit through the trials that make new law and report about the evolving legal landscape. They attend congressional hearings so readers can know what concerns lawmakers have about the state of competition law and federal enforcement policy. MLex US stories are focused on the very people who are making the news and are uniquely targeted on specific cases and legislation to highlight the critical concerns and ramifications for your business.

Team

Cecile Kohrs Lindell, chief correspondent, leads the editorial team in the US.

For the past six years Cecile has led antitrust coverage out of Washington and around the US for The Deal, a leading financial services publication in the US. Prior to that, she served as a lawyer at the Federal Trade Commission working on antitrust matters, particularly in the health care industry, as well as formally representing the FTC at OECD and ABA events. She joined the FTC from a leading US law firm where she worked on antitrust matters.

Prior to qualifying as a lawyer, Cecile reported on antitrust for Bridge News, a financial industry focused real time news agency.
